

an applicant module for collecting data;

a checker module for determining worthiness parameters; and an account services building module for receiving preference indicator signals indicative of features associated with an account-based service.

---